

The Education Bureau of the Laboratory Schools assumes general supervision of administrative affairs of the schools attached to the university and provides realistic field research for the education of children.

These schools were founded at the beginning of Meiji Era, and they share the tradition and history of the university since it was the Tokyo Higher Normal School. They are located in Tokyo, and in Saitama, Chiba, and Kanagawa Prefectures.

Laboratory School Name
Elementary School
Junior High School at Otsuka
Junior High School at Komaba
Senior High School at Otsuka
Senior High School at Komaba
Senior High School at Sakado
Special Needs Education School for the Visually Impaired
Preschool
Elementary
Junior High
Senior High
Advanced Vocational Course attached to the Senior High School
Special Needs Education School for the Deaf
Preschool
Elementary
Junior High
Senior High
Advanced Vocational Course attached to the Senior High School
Special Needs Education School for the Mentally Challenged
Preschool
Elementary
Junior High
Senior High
Special Needs Education School for the Physically Challenged
Elementary
Junior High
Senior High
Special Needs Education School for Children with Autism
Preschool
Elementary
Total: 11 Schools

Rice-transplanting in the Kellner Rice Field by the first grader Students (Junior High School at Komaba)

The friends who rest with a basketball coat for the lunch break (Senior High School at Otsuka)

The event of Elementary "Attendance at School students to celebrate graduates" (Special Needs Education School for the Deaf)

A long-distance swim of 2 km by the six grader students at the Tomiura shore of Chiba prefecture (Elementary School)

The Elementary Schoolchildren wearing the dance clothes of the athletic meeting (Special Needs Education School for the Mentally Challenged)

The outdoor class of the Science (Junior High School at Otsuka)

Preparations Exercises at the Athletic meet (Special Needs Education School for the Physically Challenged)